

Celeste Allaband

Celeste is a fourth-year undergrad and a member of the Davis Honors Challenge Program. She is majoring in Biological Sciences and plans to pursue a career in veterinary medicine. Celeste took a brief respite from the lab during the Spring 2007 quarter to participate in study abroad in Australia. She also has been involved with an internship for VM:PHR, creating an outreach program for the 4-H club in order to make youth more aware of the health and proper care of their animals. In her spare time, she reads science-fiction novels and does arts and crafts, including crocheting, quilting, and drawing. She is from Livermore (CA), known for its vineyards, honey, and annual rodeo. During breaks, Celeste works at the Altamont Cat Hospital as a doctor's assistant and often takes care of her neighbor's chickens (above).
